One Screen from Multiple TVs

The Manhattan Video-Wall TV Mount is perfect for installing and arranging flat-panel TVs alongside each other to make one big screen (one mount per display; additional equipment, like the Manhattan Video Wall Matrix, required). When installed together, the mounts let you easily arrange and adjust your screens to create a much-expanded way to enjoy movies, games, web content and other media connections you have at home.

Simplified Installation

The Manhattan Video-Wall TV Mount can be used to support just one TV, or you can add any number of mounts to install as many TVs as you want. If you know your TVs' dimensions and can do some very simple math, it's easy to arrange your displays on the wall just how you want. Once your screens are mounted, the mount's brackets offer fine-tune adjustments so you can tilt and swivel your displays to the exact view you want. Each mount offers kickstands that let you easily manage and access cables or perform maintenance. And each one includes a place to attach mini padlocks to prevent the display from being stolen.

High-visibility where you need it

This mount - or a set of them - is the perfect addition to how you enjoy high-quality audio/video in your home. But installing four or more screens to function as one is one of the best ways to show off big, bold images and messaging where you need it, too. A set of four 70" screens installed together is sure to grab most people's attention at a trade show, your business storefront, in an office conference room, in classrooms and other places. There are many competing voices out there. The Manhattan Video-Wall TV Mount gives you the advantage you need to reach your audience quicker and more effectively.
